THE CHUPAT COLONY.

The last advices from Chupat are of too melancholy a nature to pass without some remark. The Indians hunted and wounded down by the expeditionary forces of Governor Winter have fallen back to the South of the Chupat valley, and the position of our fellow countrymen in the Chupat Colony is to-day more exposed than ever.

The Indians in their last murderous attack on the Welsh expeditionary party, have wreaked vengeance on the heads of the innocent parties, and we greatly fear if the Government does not take some immediate steps to protect the colony, the savages driven to desperation by Commander Roa and his men, will fall on the little colony, and annihilate it before aid can be sent to the colonists from Viedma or Patagones.

The danger is so imminent that we trust our new British Minister will aid us in the matter, and throw his great influence into the scale to save the Welshmen from being exterminated.

Hitherto the Indians have always shewn the greatest friendship for the Welsh colonists, trading with them, and visiting the colony periodically. We have it from Mr Jones, who so long and so ably directed the affairs of this colony, that the Indians were always friendly disposed towards the Welshmen; but affairs have greatly changed in the far South of late. All the immense country lying between Chupat and the Rio Negro has been swept clean of Indians by Government troops, under Roa and other officers, and we hear that even a road has been marked out between Chupat and Viedma. The surviving Indians are pushed back behind the Chupat valley, and are now too far removed to make frequent inroads on the Rio Negro, the result is that, the only vulnerable point now is Chupat, and certainly the Government is in justice bound to defend the colony. Troops should be at once despatched for Chupat, to be stationed a few leagues up the valley, and outside of the colony, as without some force the colonists may be pushed hard to hold their own against the desperate accumulation of Indians in those exposed and open camps.

It is even possible that the Government might find it convenient to make the Chupat River and Valley, which stretches from the sea to the Bariloche Pass, the new Southern frontier line and events point that way; but this may take time to effect, and the danger of the Chupat Colony is at present so imminent that no time can be lost waiting for all the "tramites" to be gone through to change the frontier line.

The Welshmen, it seems, have found coal in the Valley—coal which they themselves have burnt, and which may prove a new departure for the whole country down there, as, situated as this country is, the discovery of coal mines in the South is of more importance than even the discovery of gold mines.

We published in our last the full particulars of this Chupat tragedy, which loses much of its horror by the noble heroism of Mr. Jones and his "compañeros," who, without troops or escort, marched boldly to the very scene of the tragedy to give their unfortunate fellow-countrymen Christian burial. Such acts prove the noble character of Mr. Jones, who, we regret to say, has been so badly treated, and who, properly speaking, should be the representative of the Argentine Government in the colony.

Meanwhile let us all hope that the Government will, in the emergency, protect the colony and at once send a picket of troops to their relief.

A LONDON VISITOR.

With undisguised pleasure we publish the following letter, received yesterday from a London gentleman, who has spent a few weeks in the Plate, and returns to Europe in the Nord America. There is a freshness and a friendliness in Mr Peters's views on this country that will render his letter all the more acceptable to our readers, and we do hope as the Plate is at present crowded with intelligent and observant visitors they will follow Mr. Peters's example and favorus with their views, no matter how severe the criticism. We return Mr Peters our very best thanks for his letter and hope that he will find it convenient to return to the Plate next spring.

To the Editor of the Standard,

Sir

I am afraid that any remarks I can offer you of my observations, during my short visit to South America, will be scarcely of sufficient interest to justify their insertion in your columns, the more especially as from the enlightened, fearless and able conduct of your Journal, your readers are always well informed as to what is going on both here and in the outside world.

Having travelled considerably in Africa, Asia, Australia, North America, and Canada, I feel obliged to admit that your climate, taking it all the year round, is the most salubrious, healthful and luxurious that I have ever lived in. Without either extremes of heat or cold. Your agricultural and grazing lands will carry more animals or grain to the area than any I have hitherto seen. It is much too good, and hence your people have been content to live and enjoy it in their own way, without ever really entering into competition for the raw material of the world, which you have here in such abundance—at its greatest centers of consumption.

Your gardens are a joy to behold. The vine and fig tree flourishing, oranges, peaches, apples and pears and all other fruits most luscious and sweet to the taste. The magnolia, myrtle, camellia, and other rare and valuable shrubs, and the flowers blooming in such profusion that their fragance scents the air for miles around.

Fancy one man with fifty thousand mares that would fetch an average price of twenty pounds per head in our English market, only being worth ten shillings per head here, that is their value for their hide, tallow and hair, less ths cost of killing and curing same, and to think that the noble animals are being slaughtered by tens of thousands annually for such results. It makes one wish that Nature had clothed them in something still less worthless to the human animal, so that their lives could then be saved for more humane and useful purposes.

Such sized cattle as I saw the Leibig Company killing at Fray Bentos for their world famed extract—at a cost to them, of say, three pounds per head, would fetch twenty pounds in our home markets where your mutton at similar comparative cost has stood the highest tests of competition in quality, and all this within twenty days steaming of England, as against forty days steaming from New Zealand and nearly the same from Australia, this of itself is margin enough to ensure a large profit. The cattle at Fray Bentos, where they are killing over one thousand head a day, ought to be worth five pounds more per head than they are paying in frozen carcass. Allow five pounds more for freight and a further five pounds for selling—ample profit one would think—and even this would only bring the cost to eighteen pounds per carcass, but, at the sametime showing an additional profit of five thousand pounds per day.

In spite of all this your prosperity has been great, but it has been local and mostly confined within your own boundaries; but now you seem to have entered upon a new era—there is quite a buzz of activity in your streets and exchanges. Railroads are being built, and further concessions are being granted. Even ostrich farming is a proved success (as I have personally seen), all of which speaks well for the future prosperity of this great country. Immigrants are arriving in thousands, mostly from Southern Europe. It seems to me that there is a great lack of organisation and proper business representation of this country's interests in London, which is the great centre of finance, the best market for the sale of raw material, the cheapest for manufactured materials of all kinds, and the British are the best colonists in the world; and yet you are scarcely known or heard of there! How is this? Your Government and people must supply the answer.

I have spent a very pleasant time here, and much regret my stay has been so short. I have experienced much kindness and attention from many of your leading people here; the use of your card and name has been a ready passport all round, and I beg you, and the many friends through you, to accept my grateful thanks and with much appreciation.

I am yours,
Faithfully,
G. D. Peters.

THE FLOODS IN BAHIA BLANCA.

The following is an account of the floods in Bahia Blanca:—

April 2d.—The rain still continues and even a calculation of the tremendous losses occasioned cannot yet be made. Several persons have been drowned, and houses fallen in on all quarters. The Gonzalez's printing office is completely inundated, he and his family having barely time to escape. He puts down his loss at 1,000 nats. The diligence has arrived very much behind hand. The telegraph has been broken for 36 hours. The Municipality completely surrounded by water. The rivers Sauce Chico and Grande, Maldonado and Naposta, have all overflown their banks and completely inundated both port and town. At the railway station the water is 1½ meter deep. A large number of animals drowned. Comisario Farulla deserves every praise for the manner in which he is acting. He is in the middle of the floods aiding every one he possibly can. There are no casualities to report in the port. The Loire, Toro, American Corvette Nipsic and Bahia Blanca have anchored. The railway line is damaged in seven different places. The pluviometer marked 98 milimeters of rain for 25th, 26th and 27th. The port is inundated at all points, the depth being in most parts about 2 feet.

In the Dolores papers we find the following sad disasters caused by the floods:—

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday it rained both day and night, causing the arroyo Pillahumao to overflow its banks for some three leagues from its banks. All the arroyos have become swollen rivers, and to cross them it is necessary to swim. 2,000 sheep, belonging to Mr. Gomez, were drowned. 1399 sheep, belonging to Sr Larguia. The inundations have greatly damaged the railway line in several places between La Gama and Bahia Blanca. The losses are very heavy.

FROZEN MEAT COMPANIES.

As will be seen by the following extract from a Texas paper dated Feb. 1884, they are starting refrigerating establishments out there the same as in the Plate. The object however is different. The Texas people only freeze their beef and mutton to send to the various cities in the United States, whilst we freeze the meat for export to Europe. As the subject is one of great interest at the moment to the public of the River Plate, we give the following detailed description of the Texas establishment which falls far short of our establishment at Campana:—

Fort Worth, Jan. 20.

During the past few days the cattlemen of Forth Worth have been on the qui vive, caused by the arrival in the city of the officers and directors of the Texas Continental Meat Company of Fort Worth and Victoria Texas. The capital stock is $500,000. This company was organized in 1883, and have in successful operation an establishment at Victoria and a capacious house here that will open up business in the fore part of February next. Cattlemen are here from all parts of the state, and yesterday and to-day have been spent in visits of examination and inspection by the officers, Directors and interested visitors, including Mr. Cunningham, of the Texas Live Stock Journal, and the Drovers' Journal representative. The officers and Directors enumerated as follows: A. F. Higgs, President and General Manager, Fort Worth; John M. Mathis, Vice President; G. A. Levi, Secretary and Treasurer, Victoria, Texas Directors, A. F. Higgs. John M. Mathis, G. A. Levi, James A. McFadden, H. J. Sutteran, Victoria; J. M. Bronson, San Antonio, C. E. Odem H. C Edrington, W J. Boaz, R. E. Maddox, J. P. Smith, W. C. Young, Fort Worth, and A. Baldwin, New Orleans.

The books were opened to-day for a limited amount of the stock not taken to interest the practical live stock men who favor the enterprise which was eagerly caught up by prominent old-time cattlemen. Among the new subscribers are Capt. J. D Reed, Capt. E. F. Ikard, W. D. Courtis, Tom Atkinson and others. Any one of these gentlemen is abundantly able to have subscribed for all that was offered and no doubt would have done it but for the fact that each were limited so that more persons might become identified with the new industry. Capt. Reed, who is one of the oldest and most successful of Texan cattle traders, predicts that within five years scarcely a hoof of beef cattle will be shipped direct from Texas and cities, for illustration the grand revolution that has transpired in the trade since he first traced the Indian wilds with his Northern-bound herds in '66. The other gentlemen also are well known as old-time, successful traders on the "cattle trail," as well as in more recent ranching operations in Texas and the Western and Northern Territories. With this class of investors here and those by the Western cattle kings for the proposed new establishments of this kind at Omaha, it looks very much as though Capt. Reed's assertion has significant force.

This model establishment is located on a spur track and switches of the Missouri Pacific system, about a mile east of this flourishing city. The situation was admirably chosen on the edge of a slight bluff, bordering a ravine that drains oo towards the Trinity River.

The main building is a substantial structure of the conventional appearance that characterizes such houses, with the exception of being wider, lighter and higher in its cellar room, the latter, designed for the storage of hides, is the lightest and most complete of its kind your correspondent has ever seen, the floor being levelled with the surface of the ground, and covers the entire area of the building. The dimensions of the entire structure, including the "abattoir" and ice factory, brine cooler, engines and tank-room, is about 250 feet long, and 150 feet wide.

The cattle-alley and chute from the stock-yards run over the largest-sized Chicago scale to the slaughter compartments, thirteen in number, that lead into one of the best lighted and most conveniently-arranged purveying-rooms. The hoisting apparatus to the carcass track is complete, leading to eight magnificent cooling-rooms, upon which run the wheels of the gambrel hooks freighted with this "richest of human food," designed to feed the southern millions.

The tank, the engine-room, ice factory and brine tanks are in a separate structure from the "abattoir" proper, connected only with run-ways and the pipe lines connecting the brine-tank with the cooling-rooms. These cooling-rooms are of peculiar and patent formation, based on natural principles, not like any other yet constructed, except by this company. The principle is the same as that which obtains in the Higg's car, only with slightly different application. These rooms do the cooling, while the car, thoroughly insulated, preserves the same internal temperature. The arrangement of the pipes are vested in a chamber overhead, with air ducts leading into the insulated compartment or hanging room below. It is a scientific fact that warm air rises while cold air descends by contact. In preparing meats for the refrigeation, there is a successory evaporation of the animal heat, and in most cooling rooms, especially where the pipes are on the sides of the room. Aside from the advantage gained in perfect refrigeration, the arrangement of the pipes above permit the changing of drip troughs that entirely disposes of any moisture that may accrue from the congelration of vapour around the pipes. In perfect refrigeration of meats to insure, preservation entire freedom from moisture is absolutely necessary; this has been accomplished in this house. The engines are the regular Boyle Ice Engines, of Chicago, two in number, of about 150 horse-power each. One runs on pumps that forces the brine through the vast network of pipes over the cooling-room from a 30,000 gallon tank; the other supplies the ammonia pipes of the 20 ton capacity ice packets, by the labyrinth of pipes permeating the brine tank. All the rest of the appurtenances are those of other first-class houses of this kind, with the exception that the mammoth-rendering tanks drop the sediment from the bottom by an ingeniously-contrived trap-door, instead of a man-hole through the side.

To the indefatigable efforts of Capt. A. F. Higgs does the State of Texas and the people of the south owe this food-preparing institution. For more than a decade he has bent his energies through all sorts of opposition and adversity to encourage and promote this most important branch of industry, and now, in the prime of his life, he has obtained that degree of success in the completion of this establishment, that places him among the eminent men of the times.

The principal merchants who have fostered this industry in the south, and who have been so successful in placing the Victoria beef, especially on the markets of New Orleans, is the house of Fagin and Osgood, proprietors, New Orleans, called Storage and Manufacturing Company. The Mr. Osgood of this firm is no other than our old friend A 1, also of the firm of Osgood and Gray, Chicago, wholesale meat market, who have ever been patrons of the Drovers' Journal. The perfection of their building and the term contract that it has with Huntingdon Transportation line, is the solution of the great problem of the meat supply of the Eastarn and Middle South for the next score of years. The people of the South are gradually growing in prosperity, and are making a strong demand for the comforts of life; and the intelligent direction from which her meats must come is from Texas, since the employment of artificial means, North and South, to secure suitable temperature for the preparation and preservation of meats, the success of this new enterprise is already assured.

IMPORTANT QUESTION.

To the Editors of the Standard.

Sirs,

A few days ago an affair was sent to me for arbitration, and on which I declined to arbitrate, pending the decision of more competent persons on the question. But I desired the parties remain silent for the present, until, I would publish an article in your paper, by which means, one or other of the intellectual commercial community would, no doubt, respond to same.

The business is as follows, and which, you will please favor by publishing in your paper should space be found to do so.

Last year in the month of May, a barraquero engaged an 'acopiador' to purchase 'frutos del paiz,' wools to be paid at $2 m/c per arroba commission. In the same month of May the 'acopiador' commenced purchasing wools, paying in advance on same for the ensuing clip 1884.

The wools purchased ranged in prices from 40 to $65 m/c, one lot at 70 and one large lot at 75 ordered by the barraquero. The number of arrobas purchased from 40 to $65 m/c was 8,000 all first class wools, which, at, the opening of prices in November the 'acopiador' was ordered to pay from 65 to 70, later on still higher prices he was ordered to pay for first class wools.

Suffice it to say that, the gains on the 8,000 arrobas purchased at from 40 to 65 gave a clear gain of $120,000 m/c.

The other day the 'acopiador' presents his books for settlement of accounts, when, the barraquero offered $2 m/c commission on all the wools, and which the 'acopiador' refused to accept, demanding full value for all the wools and his commission likewise.

The 'acopiador' remarked, had I paid 80 or 90 for these wools without your orders, what would you have done, why, answers, the barraquero, placed them to your account.

Can any of your German subscribers, or others, determine to whom does the $120,000 m/c belong, understanding at the same time, that, the money was supplied by the barraquero.

An answer to same would be accepted by the parties interested, and would, in all probability, be taken as conclusive either way.

AN IMPEACHMENT OF MODERN LUXURY

One of the most interesting papers in the March magazines is that in the National Review, in which Lady John Manners impeaches the luxury of society in the present day. "Forty or fifty years ago," she says, "the machinery of life was less cumbersome, less complicated, and less costly than it is at present." Now, however, especcially in well-appointed sporting country houses, society gives itself up to a succession of meals, "which succeed each other, with brief intervals for rest, from morning hours till long past dewy eve." The account given by this representative of "our old nobility" of the feeding of the aristocracy is somewhat startling.

Before the ladies—indeed, before most of the gentlemen—leave their beds, dainty little services of tea and bread and butter are carried to them. Sometimes the younger men prefer brandy and soda. Fortified by these refreshments, the non-sporting guests come to breakfast about ten. Four hot dishes, every sort of cold meats that might fitly furnish a feast, fruits, cakes, tea, coffee, coco, claret on the sideboard, constitute a satisfactory breakfast, often prolonged till within two hours and a half of luncheon. The shooters have probably breakfasted earlier. The important institution of luncheon begins at two. Again the table is spread with many varieties of flesh and fowl, hot and cold proofs of the cook's ability; plain puddings for those who study their health, creations in cream for those who have not yet devoted theselves to that never-failing source of interest. Coffee is often served after lunch, which is usually over soon after three. If a shooting party has gone out, Norwegian stoves crammed with hot dishes of an appetizing character have been despatched to the scene of action. The ladies gather round the tea-table about five, usually showing much appreciation of any little surprises in the way of muffins, or tea-cakes, provided by a thoughtful hostess. When the shooters come in, some will probably join the ladies, perhaps a few may like a little champagne, but tea and talk tempt the majority.

Then comes dinner, which is served at eight or half-past, and at which the floral arrangements are probably of the most elaborate discription, the resources of the head gardener having been taxed to the utmost, while sometimes baskets of flowers from Paris or Nice form the centre of a group.

By ten, or half-past, dinner is generally over. Coffee is brought into the dining-room, while the gentlemen smoke. It is whispered that some of the ladies enjoy a post-prandial cigarrette. Liqueurs and tea are offered during the evening, and keep up flagging energies till the ladies ostensibly go to bed, after a little money has changed hands at poker or loo. Then the serious business of the night begins for the gentlemen, who dive into the recesses of the smoking-room, and brews of many kinds are prepared—effervescing waters, whisky, brandy, claret, lemons in profusion must be at hand,

As it is in feeding, so it is with dressing; there is the same increase of expenditure and the same extravagance. Ladies, we are told, spend more money on their toilettes than their mothers and far more than their grandmothers did. Many ladies whose fortunes cannot be considered large spend £600 a year on their toilettes, and it is not unusual for the annual expenditure on dress alone to rise to £1,000. Sixty guineas is not an uncommon price for one Court dress. Notwithstanding all this, costumes change with the barometer, and ladies change their dresses three times during the evening. The natural result is that no young man dares marry unless he is on the way to be a Crœsus; marriages decrease and families decay. House rent, too, has gone up, and London has grown so large that busy men have to spend sometimes £200 in hansoms, even while keeping carriages of their own. Wages have nearly doubled, but Lady John does not regret this, regarding it rather as a matter for congratulation to all who reflect how essential it is for servants to lay up against a time of sickness and old age. But entertainments, the writer points out, are now on a much more extravagant scale than formerly; and the startling fact is cited that £2,000 is occasionally spent on flowers alone for a single ball. Rents at seaside places have risen; and grouse-shooting is a large item of expenditure, for it seems that £1,600 or £2,000 is not unfrequently paid for good grouse shooting and a comfortable lodge. Few will dispute the statement of the writer that "in order to indulge in luxuries on the scale referred to, and at the same time to provide for the poor, very large fortunes are essential." While the number of millionaires and demi-millionaires has increased greatly of late years, the majority of people in what is called "society" have only moderate means, while a still larger proportion are struggling with financial embarrassments—by no means a surprising fact when one thinks of some of the figures quoted above.

Lady Manners is equally outspoken about the extravagances of both ladies and gentlemen. On the subject of smoking she says:—

A very large number of our countrymen have developed Teutonic capacities for smoking. If ten or twelve cigars are consumed in the twenty-four hours, with interludes in which cigarettes and pipes are substituted, the sum that vanishes in smoke, varying according to the price of the tobacco, is considerable. In a few instances the expenditure on cigars amounts to five pounds a day.

And here is a sentence which shows to some extent what "society" means to-day.

Last season the leading dressmakers were receiving almost more orders than they could get through for the most expensive dresses. Florists, even at this time of year, find no difficulty in selling huge sheaves of flowers, by courtesy called bouquets, at sums ranging from three guineas to fancy prices. Hairdressers have a brisk sale for fluffy fringes, tresses of every shade. It is true that occasionally the golden plaits, and the beautiful silver hair that we regard as the glory of advancing years, are made of the finest alpaca wool, but they are very profitable merchandise. French artists are decorating reception-rooms with snowy brocades, relieved by tints of gold, for those who appreciate their taste; our own upholsterers furnish suits of rooms with the softest plush, or glowing damask and every imaginable appliance for luxurious lounging.

And yet in the closest proximity to the dwellings of the rich the direst poverty too often exists; but while the writer recognizes the startling contrasts which are presented in the state of society to-day she sees some elements of hope and encouragement, and all must join in the wish that finds expression in her concluding sentence:—"Perhaps the day may come when one half of the world may set itself in earnest to find out how the other half lives, When that knowledge is gained, some may see their way to ordering their lives in such a manner that, without neglecting their social duties or compromising the future of those who come after them, they may themselves enjoy the one luxury that never palls—the luxury of doing good."

LONDON LETTER.

EGYPT.

BEFORE THE BATTLE.

Feb. 29th.

No greater darkness plagued Pharaoh than we have experienced since we received a week since to-day the embarrassing news of the surrender of the garrison of Tokar. It was not a little ridiculous that our expedition, horse, foot and marines, should have sailed irrevocably from Souakim to humanely save the defenders of Tokar, who it seems preferred Osman Digma to the English. Since then, the two great questions have been, was the news true that Tokar had surrendered completely—that is to say, the garrison of the citadel as well as the inhabitants of the town, and if so, what are our people to do next. The first question is not positively settled yet. General Graham up to within a day or two ago did not believe in the surrender; General Baker, however did, and general prejudice seems to be in favour of the truth of the first report, which I saw on the morning after I wrote to you, had created consternation in the British Cabinet; because as everyone foresaw, Souakin left in charge of a few marines and blue-jackets would be in imminent danger. The next question, as to what our men were to do on arriving at Trinkitat was settled in what some people think a very curious fashion. It was decided, that as we had got our men there, it would be necessary to do something, and the idea occurred to the military authorities that at all events we could employ our expeditionary forces of 4,800 men of all arms, in burying the dead who had been left on the field of battle when Baker was defeated at the wells near Tokar. Of course, that was an excuse. What it was thought advisable to do, was to provoke Osman Digma to fight and give him a lesson and warning as to the invincibility of British soldiers. We have been in a state of disagreeable suspense all the week. The promised battle was to come off on Tuesday; but instead of that the Arabs took possession of Baker's fort commanding the morass between the shore and the plain. The Highlanders and Hussars were accordingly sent forward to occupy the fort. The Arabs offered no resistance, but retired as the specials say, to the sky-line, where they could be distinctly seen brandishing their spears.

The great battle was finally postponed until to-day. At this moment I hear the voices of the street newsmen calling out some tidings or other, but I do not disturb myself as we are accustomed to news of all kinds. Last night for instance, I was told by a man in the Admiralty that very sinister rumours had been current during the day at the War Office. Nothing alarming, however, appeared in the papers to-day.

The instructions sent to General Graham from the War Office in London, give him full discretionary powers in regard to engaging the enemy or in marching upon Tokar. The Government at the same time strongly impress upon his mind that the main object is the defence of Souakim, and that there is no intention of extending unnecessarily the military operations.

Before giving you details from the newspapers, I may mention that not much has been heard of General Gordon. The very latest telegrams in which he threatens the Soudanese with the arrival of British troops is more extraordinary than some of its predecessors. You are, however, to remember two things: 1stly. "He knows;" and is treating with Orientals and savages. 2ndly. His telegrams are occasionally indited by a young Irish artist, Mr. Power. I know him personally.

The Bishop of Lincoln has addressed a letter to General Gordon, in which he says that he regards his action with regard to slavery, which is being so much canvassed at the present time, as in exact accordance with St. Paul's practice as exhibited in the case of Onesimus and others. "The Apostle denounced the act of slave-driving, but sanctioned that of slave-holding by sending Onesimus back to his master. Did he, then, sanction slavery? No, but he relied on the religion of Jesus Christ, and the truth flowing from the Incarnation, that all men were brothers, by slow but sure degrees to put an end to a practice utterly at variance with that fundamental doctrine."

General Gordon has issued the following proclamation to the people of the Soudan, dated 26th inst:—

"From the date of my arrival until now I have given you sound advice, and everything has been done to ensure tranquillity and put a stop to blood shed.

"My advice has not been listened to, and I am therefore forced against my will to send for British troops, who are now on the road, and will arrive in a few days.

"I shall severely punish all who will not change their conduct.

"You know well that I am not ignorant of anything that is going on, and I write this that you may know my resolution."

The Standard correspondent writing from Trinkitat yesterday, 28th inst., says:—

"The enemy's parties in front of Fort Baker are growing bolder. All the morning they have maintained a heavy fire at long range with our mounted infantry. Our artillery have fired a few shots with one of the Krupp guns, and one shell fell well among a clump of the rebels, but being a percussion shell, no apparent damage was done. Admiral Hewett supplies from the Fleet eight seven-pounders, which will replace the useless brass toys sent from Cairo. These ship guns are provided with shrapnell. They will be carried on the backs of camels. I understand that Generals Grahams and Buller and Sir E. Baring all asked that a battery of horse artillery should be sent, and that General Baker urged the extreme value of such an addition to the force, but that the military authorities at home absolutely refused to listen to the request.

The enemy's rifle bullets fall into Fort Baker, but none of the garrison there have been hit. The infantry move across the lagoon at two o'clock, the Cavalry at five, thus enabling the horses to drink their fill at the water tanks at as late an hour as possible. At daybreak to-morrow the advance from Fort Baker begins, and the troops will probably be engaged before they have gone far.

The spies who have been sent out to gather news of the enemy's doing report that there were great feasting and rejoicing last night in welcome of considerable forces which joined them during the day.

Our look-out on Fort Baker reports that the enemy are working, apparently throwing up earthworks. If this be the case, the garrison of Tokar are probably assisting them, as the wild tribes can know nothing of such defences. They have only fired one shot from their artillery this morning. It fell short, and they did not repeat the experiment. The Admiral returned this morning from Suakim.

To the great satisfaction of every one, the Serapis, with the 65th Regiment on board, has just arrived off the port. Her engines had gone wrong, and it was feared that she would not arrive in time for the 65th to take part in the fight. No one has any doubt of our ability to defeat the enemy; at the same time, against a foe so daring and determined a reinforcement of four or five hundred men is not to be despised, especially when they are, as in the present case, tried old soldiers. They will land immediately, and advance with the rest of the force.

The force under General Graham which marched against Osman Digna this morning is composed as follows:—

Cavalry Brigade.—Colonel Stuart.—10th Hussars, 328 men; 19th Hussars, 410 men; Mounted Infantry, 126 men.

Artillery.—Royal Artillery, 126 men, six 7-pounder guns, 10 brass mountain guns, and four Krupp 9-centimetre guns.

Naval Brigade.—Commander Rolfe, of the Euryalus, and Flag-Lieutenant Graham.—Bluejackets, 62 men; two 9-pounder guns, three Gatlings, three Gardners.

Infantry.—1st Brigade.—3rd Battalion King's Royal Rifles, 610 men; 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, 751 men; 2nd Battalion Royal Irish Fusiliers, 334 men.

2nd Brigade.—1st Battalion Black Watch (Royal Highlanders), 761 men; Royal Marines (Infantry and Artillery) 361 men.

Royal Engineers, 100 men; details (various detachments), 200 men.

To these are to be added the 1st battalion of the York and Lancaster (65th Regt.), 400 men, who, owing to an accident to the machinery of the Serapis, did not arrive until yesterday, and for whom the force would not have waited if the battalion had not arrived in time. The whole force, not including transport, numbers about 4,400 men, with 206 officers, 22 guns, and six machine guns. There are for transport 600 camels, with 350 mules and 100 camels for ambulance work. The camel battery has 80 camels, about 100 men, and the brass guns mentioned above.

There should be added to the composition of the Staff Lieutenant Lindsay, attached to Major-General Graham as naval aide-de-camp. Major Giles, of the Gendarmerie, and Lieutenant Probyn, of the Bengal Cavalry, are attached to the 10th Hussars.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday at the appointed hour the private reception of H. E. the Honble. Edmund Monson, took place at the Government House. Awaiting the President's speech, we hold Mr Monson's over for to-morrow, but we note in his speech a delicate allusion to the sad event, which necessitated the reception being so private.

The Pellegrini banquet last evening was one of the grandest events of the season, and well worthy of the great popularity and high standing of the honored guest. We believe Dn. Carlos is one of our most rising men, and the banquet given to him on his return from Europe, is a merited compliment in which we all join, although many of us may have been unable to attend the dinner.

The town of Bahia Blanca, according to the telegrams coming up from the South, was all but washed away. Such an inundation in that quarter was never known before, and the worst of the business is that the superstitions portion of the inhabitants attribute such unusually heavy rains to the Standard umbrella, that still stands on the tip-top of the Curumalan mountains. The "gauchos" of the plains near those mountains always say that it rains on Curumalan whenever a 'gringo' enters the valley between the two chains, and nothing short of a deluge was to be expected when a 'gringo' umbrella was posted on the peak for the want of a better flag-staff. It is a coincidence that such tremendous rains should occur down there and so soon after the planting of that umbrella, but life itself is made up of coincidences, and the less we bother ourselves in tracing those coincidences the better, as there is a superstitions vein in every mind, no matter what materialists and others may urge to the contrary. As we write the news comes that a Eagle flew off with the umbrella, and that Mr Sawell shot the Eagle and has brought the umbrella into town to be placed on exhibition at Mr Sommers renowned hat shop.

The telegram from Italy announcing the sailing of the Orione with 950 emigrants for the Plate is most significant, since Mr Lavarello tells us that usually in those months the people do not leave Italy for the Plate, and that 200 passengers at this season of the year would be a large number. The plain fact of the matter is that emigration to the Plate is yet immensely below the mark and has hardly begun, 100,000 emigrants in the year is to-day the summit of our ambition; we believe the day will come when our immigration will be one hundred thousand per month.

Yesterday, after their long imprisonment on board, the Minho's passengers were landed; the morning was not very favorable, and the river sufficiently rough. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Parish, Mr. Santa Maria, and all other old friends on board. We do hope they will find comfortable quarters, but the squeeze at the hotels is tremendous; we never before remember our hotels so full, and as yet our friends, the Congress men, have not arrived.

Owing to the extraordinary heavy rains in the South, the inauguration of the Bahia Blanca Railway must be postponed; the floods of the Naposta and Sauce Chico have inundated the whole country, and the weather looks so broken, and the rains so continuous that it is very hard to say when the inauguration will come off, possibly for 25th of May.

The terrible suicide of the Italian 'tendero,' reported yesterday, had a cause. The victim was a well to do and respectable trader of good fortune, and owner of the 'tienda' corner Corrientes, and facing the San Nicolas church. As usual there was a woman in the case; he was obliged to give a pagaré for 25,000 pats to an injured husband, and this upset his mind. The particulars of this sad affair will hardly bear publication.

Friends who want to buy good Government land, must be ready for 14th inst., when some fine lands in the 14th Section will be sold by the Government of Buenos Aires. We cannot yet say where the auction will be held, at La Plata or in this city, but we fear the Greeks.

The Minister of the Interior and the Minister of Education, under date Wednesday, despatched to the Governor of Buenos Aires two most polite notes about the removal of the Provincial Government Departments, and giving up the key of the old legislature house in Calle Peru, and also handing over many of the valuable archives, which were being boxed up to send to La Plata. This moving business is a very severe question, and the sooner over the better. The weather, it seems, opposes the Government going out to La Plata at present, the mud in La Plata is profound, and if it keeps on raining it is probable that Governor Rocha will have to surrender up the reins of Government to Governor D'Amico, in the Hotel de la Paix, as La Plata is simply impossible in wet muddy weather.

Messrs. Carli and Frugso presented a petition soliciting the introduction of a tile and brick-making machine free of duly. The machine is to build La Plata so the petition will doubtlessly be granted.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in stating that I cured all my flocks this season with the "Golden Leaf Extract" and found the result highly satisfactory, and in future do not intend to use any other dip.

After first using the "Golden Leaf," I found it such a perfect cure for Scab that I recommended it to several of my neighbours who have all proved it equally good.

Yours truly

Pildoras Holloway.

Las virtudes de esta admirable medicina son especialmente eficaces para expulsar de la Sangre toda impureza. En los casos de debilidad, ella es incomparable, al paso que cura radicalmente las Indigestiones, y los desordenes generales del Higado, del Estomago, y de los Intestinos, restableciendose, como por encanto, el vigor y la salud normal, dichas Pildoras remueven asimismo las dolencias que suelen afligir a las Mugeres al llegar estas a la edad critica.

Unguente Holloway.

Este incomparable Balsamo sana los Males de Piernas y de Pecho, las Llagas Antiguas, y aun esas Ulceras cuyo orijen no conviene mencionar en un anuncio publico. Para todas las Erupciones cutaneas no hay remedio igual al Unguente Holloway, al que millares deben la salvacion, tanto de sus Brazos y Piernas como de su existencia.
Antes de comprar, examinese con mucha cautela el Rotulo en el Bote o la Caja, para cerciorarse si esta in direccion de 533 Oxford Street, London, para si no esta, entonces se trata de perpetrar un descarado engaño.

	April 3rd, 1884
Cedulas A	100½
Cedulas E	88½
Cedulas F	83½
National Bank Shares....	133½
Nat. Bank Certificados..	43½ prem.

Everything advanced in price to-day, owing to the glow of the good news from London about the loan; National Bank Shares are rising as never before known in the market, and as many outsiders are now investing in the stock, and 10,000 shares are placed in England hypothecated, the bulls count on the stock becoming as scarce as Italian Bank Shares and held up by the holders for investment. It seems to us, however, that we have a long road to travel before we reach that point, as we must ever remember that 7,500 shares had to be taken up and paid for this month to close the liquidation. National Bank Certificates are now admitted by all to be the best stock in the whole market; a small lot was picked up at 43½ premium, but 45 premium is the price, and at that figure they are considered splendid buying, many of the large holders would not sell even at double this premium. Cedulas are momentarily forgotten in the heat of the Bank Share speculation; still they hold their own, and it will be awhile before outsiders sell this stock 'descubierto' as freely as last month. Series F, although, coming out each day fresh upon the market, does not give way, and prices rather improved to-day.
Notwithstanding the great rains and storm, to-day was another summer's day and the sun shone as only it shines in the R. Plate, all the brokers who came to town with overcoats and umbrellas were encumbered during the day. At noon it was as hot as in the month of January, and the elderly members of the Bolsa prognosticate great rains from such continuous heat. Many parties in the low flat South lands are thinking of moving their stock to the North before the winter sets in. We hear that there is not so much water in the La Gama camps as in last September, and that the greatest floods are in the lands lying between Alfalfa and Bahia Blanca, and in the partidos of Tres Arroyos and General Pringles.
There was another telegram to-day about the loan in London, and the extracts we published this morning from a London letter were much commented upon and much approved by all; our correspondent has evidently struck the key note, as all approve of his remarks, and we hope the Minister of Hacienda will also approve of his views, as it is really most inconvenient for the Argentine Government to be compelled to borrow loan upon loan for Public Works that like the Rosario and Campana Railway would be taken in hand, and the required capital raised in three days by an English Joint-Stock Company formed for the purpose. We hope to see the Argentine Government give the Riachuelo Port Works to Mr. Fair, who made such liberal offers for the work and had the money ready to carry it out.
The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—

Cedulas—
For cash A 39,150 at 100⅝-⅞-⅝
For cash E 73,900 at 88½
For April 30th E 43,000 at 88⅛-⅜-⅛-⅜
For cash F 58,000 at 83½-¾
For April 30th F 145,000 at 83¾-84
Sales, 359,050
National Bank Shares—
For cash 70 at 133-½
For April 30th 2,700 at 134-½-134½-134-½ to 134½-⅝
For May 3rd 100 at 136
Sales, 2,870
National Bank Certificates, 30 o/o paid—
For cash 25 at 143½

There was a large amount of exchange passed this morning, still the rates show no improvement, and fast as the bills are offered they are taken up, the chief takers the Bank. American drawers say the brokers offer them 47½ for all they can draw; and French exchange was done this morning at 5.01, and on Antwerp at 5.02. It must always be remembered that the difficult state of the Rio market has told on this and the Montevidean market. Exchange in Rio has within the last few months fallen 5 per cent.; but there are probabilities of an improvement there, as the remaining half of the last Brazilian loan will, we learn, be in these days launched by the Rothschilds.
We are much indebted to our colleague the Nacion for helping us in the question about bighters and deposits; and we heard on 'Change to-day that the Minister had ordered the Customs Collector to "abiltar" three or four new deposits, which will always enable us to get the goods out of the lighters. The growth of our commerce could not be more clearly proven than by the blocked-up state of our Port business. Last year we all complained of the Central Argentine Railway and the block-up of goods, machinery and railway stuff at the station in Rosario, but now we have the same and a still worse block-up in this port; and the plain fact of the matter is, the country and its trade are growing far too fast for us all. The Nacion gives the following list of unloaded lighters with 5,000 tons of goods on board:—
Magallanes, Pollo, Teresa, Unica, Somorostro, Portena, Mercedes, Albina, Volcan, Argentino, London, San Martin, Maria, Juan de Garay, Buenos Aires, Don Jose, Celedonio, Bernardo, Angélico, Sol, Juliana, Normando, Exefir, Fortuna and others.
It is rumoured that Dr Plaza will leave in a few days for his estancia in the South of Cordova, to have a look at his 'rodeo' of cattle. It is a good sign to see our Minister of Hacienda with a 'rodeo' of cows and a few flocks of sheep, as an estanciero Minister always knows more of the country interests than a mere city lawyer.
We hear that Dr Pacheco has arranged with Dr Llavebi Campbell, that henceforward the National Bank Notes be received at the Mortgage Bank in payment; we had not supposed that any special arrangement was necessary.
Mr Sewell, who has arrived up from Curamalan, was welcomed, also Mr Peters of London, who has returned from Fray Bentos. Mr Sewell says that the floods in the General Pringles district came up so suddenly that the people had hardly time to escape from their houses. An English sailor, who happened to arrive at a 'puesto' on the high banks of the river, behaved very well in the emergency he stripped and swam the river in the middle of the night, and was carried down over 100 yards by the current, still he saved lives and property by his pluck The Curumalan camps suffer nothing by the rain being so high and rolling, and several flocks of fine sheep arrived there from Gandara without loss.
Letters received to-day from Loreto say the camps are splendid and several flocks of sheep have arrived from the partidos of Buenos Aires without tne loss of a sheep.
The s.s. Lucerne has arrived at Montevideo with 1800 tons cargo.
We hear on good authority that next week some 20,000 tons of cargo are due in this port from Europe no wonder that our deposits are insufficient.
At afterhours the news was of another reduction of the Bank of England rate, which, of course, was considered as favourable news for this country. The Bank of England rate is now down to 2½ per cent., which means a very miserable state of trade and business at home.
National Bank Shares rose in the liquidation-room to 136 for the end of the month, but toppled over and dropped to 135½, at which price the market closed. Cedulas 88½ for to-morrow, and Series F closed hard at 84½ for end of month, buyers.
Exchange still rules scarce, and all the paper offering at 47½ taken up. There must come a time, however, when the rate will advance, but so far the market rules very weak.
The Pagare Committee received a remarkable telegram yesterday, giving wheat, wool, sheepskins, maize, tallow and wet salted hides all very flat.
Telegrams from Minister Balcarce to Dr. Pacheco, to-day, announce that the Argentine loan was subscribed for five times over.
Mr. P. Ham, the leading wool broker, topped the market to-day with Mr E. Simnott's wool from 25 de Mayo, at 92.
The sale of from 5 to 6,000 cow hides at Casa Blanca Saladero, on the Uruguay, was reported to-day, at reserved rates.
Antwerp telegrams received to day are of the same dreary nature about wool and hides.
Mr. E. Molfini has been admitted socio of the Bolsa. The two accounts pending to close the month's liquidation were arranged to-day.
The steamer Clyde with 10,000 bags of wheat has cleared from Rosario for Antwerp. Time there was when we should have all clasped our hands at such news as this, but we have outlived all that, and wheat goes forward now the same as wool; soon we shall report the same of frozen mutton.
The sale of 1000 head of cattle in the South 15 per cent novillos at 170 is reported and large numbers offering but not yet sold.
Both National and Provincial Banks discount liberally and the private banks are also easier with their money, thus if exchange would only go up all would be well.
From the Plaza Once we have the following:—
160 waggons of produce arrived.
The arrivals to-day were:—
17,600 @ wool
2,573 sacks of wheat
1,512 do maize
682 bales hay
And much of other produce.
Cow hides in demand, and hay, colza, barley maize and turnips maintain their prices. Wool and other produce continue flat.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The last elections beat everything in the way of elections ever known or heard of in the Plate. Here we are now five days since the elections came off, and as yet no one in town knows who are elected. No paper has published the triumphant list, and all that the public knows to the present is that the Mitrista list was beaten and the Rochista list won. But why not publish the Rochista list? We believe our colleagues, like ourselves, don't know the names of the newly-elected Senators or Deputies, and we are not sure if any man in town does.

They say that 10,000 pats. was offered yesterday for the paper called El Pueblo, a most furious opposition paper to the Provincial Government. The offer was refused.

The Committee named for the erection of a statue to the memory of the late Commodore Py has petitioned the Municipality, through the Lord Mayor, to grant them a suitable space in the Cementerio del Norte for the purpose. It will doubtlessly be granted.

There is to be another grand banquet in La Plata to celebrate the hegira of the "Poderes Publicos." Four hundred covers at 300 m/n per head means 120,000 m/c. The Aguila has charge of the preparations and supply, and the station deposit will be the banquet hall.

Bulls in a china shop, or even on the Bolsa, are small fry to bulls in the Municipality. At Wednesday night's session, after some measures were disposed of, Councillor Navarro introduced a measure ordering the Lord Mayor, within the space of twenty-four hours, to answer the several notes enjoining the performance of some public works. A warm discussion followed, resulting in the motion being passed as it stood. It was contended that his Lordship had not wherewith to cause their completion.

The Porteña ladies are certainly making a bold stroke for woman's rights. In no other country, to the best of our knowledge, information and belief, does there exist such an institution as a Ladies' Club; and we are certainly afraid that if such a downright 'notion' never took root in New York it will hardly have sufficient attractions for the charming Argentines. Besides and moreover, it is all very well for a man to dine at his club and play billiards and whist 'ad libitum' in the evenings, when his hours are his own, but if a woman—especially a married woman—takes to doing the same thing, we very much fear that soon there will be another institution on foot styled and known as "The Angry and Outraged Husbands' Club." We must, therefore, for the above incontrovertible, irrefutable and undeniable reasons, veto the measure.

What Prince Bismarck thought about diplomacy when he was Councillor of Legation may be gathered from this extract of a letter written to his wife from Frankfort in 1851:—"In the art of saying nothing and in a great many words I am making rapid progress. I write many pages of letters which read like lending articles, and if Manteuffel, after perusing them, can tell what they are about he certainly knows more than I. Everyone of us pretends to believe that his colleagues are full of ideas and plans; and yet all the time the whole body of us know nothing, and each is aware that the others know nothing. No man, not even the most malicious sceptic of a democrat, can believe what charlatanism and big pretence is all this diplomacy."

Tramway accidents are becoming notably numerous, mostly or in part due to the bad state of the streets. Yesterday a police official, returning home after his day's work, slipped on alighting from the tramway and fell under the wheels. Nobody attempted to give him any assistance, though one of his legs was broken. He managed with great difficulty to drag himself to the pavement, whence he was taken to his house, where he had to remain four hours without being seen by a doctor. He has a wife and seven children depending on his support.

Engineer Mazocchi, who has caused so much excitement in the city by his eccentricities, will be taken to Europe in the Nord America. His family lives in Rome, to whose care he will be confided. It is the second attempt to expatriate him. On the former occasion it fell through on account of his being seized with a violent attack on the day of departure.

To the Editor of the Standard

I beg a small place in your columns to inform those who have hitherto helped the work carried on in this School that their assistance is more than ever needed; as by the doctor's advice I am obliged to withdraw entirely from it for a time, so as to allow my nervous system an opportunity to recover itself.

The treasurer for the school is Mr. Hudson, 77 Calle Callao.

Yours truly
